TANK COLLAPSE FATAL TO THREE WORKERS IN EAST

Five Hurt And One Missing In Tiverton, R.
I. Accident

Tiverton, R. I., Nov. 1. —(AP)—Three men were killed, a fourth was reported missing and five were injured today as a huge new tank collapsed at the plant of the New England Terminal Company, South after four other tanks, filled with oil, burst into flame. The loss from the ensuing fire was expected to reach $300,000.

Several workmen were reported missing immediately after the collapse of the tank and the outbreak of the fire, but since a number of men were rushed to hospitals in Fall River, it was believed that they might be found there.

The known dead included a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, known as "Chief" Gaylor Henshaw, and Lester Hornback, whose homes were in Oklahoma and Henry St. Pierre, 23, of Fall River. The tank being tested had been filled with water and several workmen were on top looking it over to see if it was in good condition, while several others were inspecting it from the ground, before filling it with oil.

Without warning the big tank collapsed. The explosion followed shortly and the resulting fire spread to the big oil tanks nearby.

Although firemen were promptly on the scene nothing they could do prevented the rapid spread of the flames.

OIL WELL ON FIRE

Oklahoma City, Nov. 1. —(AP)—An explosion set fire to a 10,000-barrel oil well, the Russell Petroleum Company's No. 1 Zeno, 11 blocks from Oklahoma City's business district, today.

The blast, of undetermined origin, tore out the well's connections, loosing a roaring column of oil and gas that shot high into the air and ignited.

No one was injured. The flames quickly melted the steel derrick and consumed 25,000 barrels of oil in four storage tanks. Dense clouds of smoke billowed over the city from the well.

The explosion occurred at 6:10 A. M. M. L. Stephens, night watchman, said he could not account for it. He escaped from the scene as the wild well caught fire.

Two Met Death In Quarrel Over Rent

Decatur, Tex., Nov. 1. —(AP)—Two charges of murder were filed today against Tim Harlan, 37, in connection with the shooting of his brother-in-law, Gilbert Womack, 23, and Coleman Miller, 27, on the streets of Paradise, Tex., late last night.

Sheriff J. T. Faith said Harlan admitted killing the men but would make no other statement. His case will be tried in the December term of the forty-third judicial court.

Investigators said that Harlan, the father of four children and a tenant on the farm of W. J. Womack, the grandfather of the slain men, had been ejected from the land and was having difficulties with Miller and Young Womack over rentals.

Not far from this village is the farm home of R. G. (Boss) Shannon, where Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, was held for $200,000 ransom last July.

Output Of Electric Power Is Increased

New York, Nov. 1. —(AP)—The Edison Electric Institute today reported a small gain in electric power output for the week ended Oct. 28 over that of the previous week, but the gain over last year, amounting to 5.8 per cent, was the smallest in several months. In the previous week output was 5.9 per cent ahead of the 1932 period.

Production for the week amounted to 1,621,702,000 kilowatt hours against 1,618,795,000 in the preceding week and 1,533,028,000 for the same period last year.

In the central industrial region the output was 8.2 per cent above last year compared with a gain of 9.2 per cent in the previous week.

Breweries Donate Beer For Big Fair

Chicago—Brewers having promised to provide 2,000 barrels of beer for free distribution during "Personality Day," Nov. 8, at the World's Fair have begun to wonder if it's up to them to dig down in their pockets for the $11,700 taxes assessed on that amount of the amber fluid at a rate of $5.62 a barrel.

The city council offered to try and find someone with a heart and purse big enough to pay the bill.

SAMUEL INSULL UNCERTAIN AS TO HIS FUTURE

Verdict Freeing Him Praised By Greek Newspapers

Athens, Greece, Nov. 1. —(AP)—Samuel Insull, holding a bunch of congratulatory cablegrams in his hand, today held an informal mid-day reception at his hotel to celebrate the refusal of the Greek court to permit his extradition to the United States.

Holding up one message after another, Insull, in excellent spirits, expressed his thanks to his friends, but was not inclined to discuss his personal plans, saying he would let those affairs take their natural course.

Morning newspapers commenting on the court's decision expressed pleasure and said Greek justice had reached its highest pinnacle in the verdict. They also said they were pleased that the justice of a small country was not allowed to be prejudiced or intimidated by a large country.

U. S. Agent Silent

Forest Harness representative of the American government in the Insull hearing, moved from the Hotel Grande Bretagne to the American legation. He declined to say anything concerning the result of the case. Asked whether the report that three other charges were being brought against Insull was correct, Harness replied: "I am not the American government. You had better see the minister."

Lincoln MacVeagh, the minister, replying to the same question, said: "I have not received official notification of the verdict. I have advised Washington fully. Any further action must be decided there."

BRITISH STAND ON ROOSEVELT PLANS AWAITED

President Now Is Fearful Of Currency War If London Balks

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 1. —(AP)—Intention of the government to start foreign gold purchases today was blocked by the closing of all banks in France in observance of All Saints holy day.

This became known today in official circles that assumed the gold operations would begin tomorrow in the foreign markets.

Washington, Nov. 1. —(AP)—The administration busily made ready today to speed to the support of weakening commodity markets with its price-propping device of buying gold on European exchanges.

Although the American government still awaited official British reaction to its program, involving operations bearing directly on the relation of the dollar and the pound, it made known a determination to begin purchasing the precious yellow metal as quickly as possible.

Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, special representative of the British Treasury, to whom were given American assurances that the coming operations were not aimed at undermining England's position in world trade, had an appointment at the White House.

Although the appointment was made, several days ago, to talk over with the President the status of negotiations on revision of Britain's war debt, it was held entirely possible that Sir Frederick might carry with him his government's views on Roosevelt's monetary program.

IMPEACHMENT OF FEDERAL JUDGE WOODWARD, HINT

Appointments In Bankruptcy Cases Are Being Probed

Chicago, Nov. 1. —(AP)—The receivership and bankruptcy appointments of Federal Judge Chas. E. Woodward were under the scrutiny today of the Judiciary subcommittee of the national House of Representatives, in quest of data that would aid it in framing legislation to correct abuses.

However, Chairman Tom D. McKeown, Oklahoma Representative after hearing testimony yesterday that Judge Woodward in a two-year period up until September, 1932, had appointed the law firm which employs his son, Harold C. Woodward, as counsel for receivers in ten equity and four bankruptcy cases, said impeachment action against the Judge loomed also.

In addition to questioning Walter H. Eckert, senior member of the firm of Eckert & Peterson, which succeeded Loucks, Eckert & Peterson, the firm in question, the committee also heard a report on the situation from the Chicago Bar Association.

Testimony and the report brought out that in one case the legal firm received $2,000 of a $15,266 bill for charges to attorneys and receivers while creditors got nothing, that in another case, $20,000 of the $35,000 cash surplus after a year's operation of a firm under orders of the court went to the law firm, and that in still another case Loucks, Eckert & Peterson received $50,000 for nine months' work while creditors got 20 cents on the dollar.

Eckert was on the stand most of the day, but the committee through its attorney Marshall Solberg, also got around to questioning Clarence P. Denning, executive secretary of the bar association, on the association's report on Judge Woodward's appointments.

At Judge's Suggestion
In his testimony on the liquidation in bankruptcy of Prince & Whitley, Inc., brokers, in which creditors received but 20 cents on the dollar, Eckert said he was first asked by Judge Woodward to suggest a capable receiver and that he mentioned the Chicago Title & Trust Company.

Before leaving the Judge's office he said General Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title & Trust Co., appeared and accepted the appointment, and upon Judge Woodward's suggestion then agreed to have Eckert's firm act as counsel.

Both the counsel and the Title & Trust Company received fees amounting to $50,000, Eckert testified.

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD DRAFTING PROPOSED LAWS

Original Package Plan For Sales Vetoed By Committee

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1. —(AP)—The original plan for the sale of hard liquor has been vetoed unanimously by the Illinois Liquor Control Commission.

Other debated points in the recommendations which the commission is to make to another special session in anticipation of prohibition repeal were discussed but not decided upon as Senator Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democrat, and other members started last night to draft their final report.

The only definite action was to vote in opposition to the plan to forbid the sale of hard liquor unless it was wrapped in the original package.

Discussion indicated that the commissioners opposed the return of the saloon and sought to eliminate the bootlegger, but other meetings were called to decide upon final recommendations. One point to be settled is whether state or local commissions should be created to regulate the liquor trade.

The commission today voted to recommend that local option be achieved by requiring the approval of local authorities before licenses are issued.

World Name Commissions
Creation of a state commission of five members and local commissions of three in municipalities of more than 10,000 population was approved by the commission which is recommending legislation for a special session to be called in anticipation of prohibition repeal.

In counties and municipalities of less than 10,000 population, the regular authorities would have control over liquor sales.

Licenses would be issued by the state commission, only three members of which could belong to the same political party, upon recommendation of the local commission or authorities. This would permit local option in cases where no recommendations are made.

Both state and local commissions would have power to revoke licenses, but the state could do it only after a public hearing, with a court review provided.

Members of the commission debated means of preventing the wet and dry fight from arising at every local election. Considerable sentiment was expressed in favor of the New York plan of not permitting a vote on local option more often than once in every three general elections.

FARM STRIKERS OF WISCONSIN DIVIDED TODAY

Holiday Assn. Calls Off Strike: Milk Pool Continues

Milwaukee, Nov. 1. —(AP)—The 11-day Wisconsin farm strike, marked by one death and a cheese factory dynamiting, today was at a temporary end as far as the state Farmers Holiday Association was concerned but was being continued by the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk pool.

Declaring it was not a holiday association or milk pool strike that "those sitting in swivel chairs" could end, but was a strike of the farmer, Walter M. Singler, pool president, called the farmers into a mass meeting at Madison Friday. They will be asked to vote on whether to continue or end the non-marketing campaign.

Singler said that meanwhile he would order no truce and would not call off pool members who may be on the picket lines.

At Des Moines yesterday, Arnold Gilbert, state Holiday Association president, issued instructions to his leaders to stop the strike pending presentation of the 10-state Governors conference report to President Roosevelt. He advised them to permit dairy plants to reopen but to retain possession of the products until they receive other instructions.

Leaders Indignant
Pool leaders expressed indignation over Gilbert's sudden action. The pool joined the strike yesterday after waiting until reassured, Singler said, that the holiday group would prosecute it to a conclusion.

In its 11-day campaign, the holiday association closed hundreds of dairy plants in 20 up state counties. Some cities received only enough milk to supply children and invalids.

There was little violence as compared with the pool's May strike. Most of the plants closed voluntarily. A cheese factory near Appleton was dynamited yesterday and a picket, Gunder Pelland, was shot to death in Dane county last Friday when a produce truck and its convoy car were stopped.

Russia plans on building the world's "finest highway." The road will be laid a distance of 268 miles between Moscow and Nizhni Novgorod; all intersections will be underpasses and an average speed of 75 miles an hour will be possible.

Government Cannot Buy Sanitary Dist.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1. —(AP)—Secretary Ickes, Administrator of Public Works, today advised the House of Representatives that the federal government would not agree to a proposal for purchase of waterways from the Chicago Sanitary District in return for the construction of sewage disposal and treatment plants.

"There is nothing in the National Industrial Recovery Act which would permit the use of the money appropriated for the purposes of that act to buy this waterway," Ickes wrote to Charles P. Casey, clerk of the House.

By resolution, the House last week asked Ickes if the proposed agreement would be satisfactory.

VIOLATION OF FEDERAL DRUG ACT IS CHARGE

"Old Doc" Tilton Of Clinton, Iowa Put On Trial Today

Davenport, Iowa, Nov. 1. —(AP)—Lester "Old Doc" Tilton of Clinton, head of the Tilton laboratories who, according to government agents, claimed his remedies were a sure cure for all ills went on trial in federal court today charged with six counts of violation of the federal pure food and drug act.

The case was called before Judge Charles A. Dewey at 10 A. M. and the morning was spent in the selection of a jury. The first witness was to be called this afternoon.

Some time ago Tilton encountered difficulties in Chicago where he was tried for his medical practices. The first charge is that he shipped interstate a supply of compound alleged to have contained drugs to a Catholic hospital in Chicago.

The second count is that the compound was false and that it contained fraudulent labels, while the third charge is that it was labeled as a cure for certain ailments, and the treatment for cancer. Count number four charges that the compound was also labeled as a cure for gonorrhea, swollen glands and varicose veins. The fifth count charges two other shipments of healing ointment, which were labeled as a cure for sore lungs and sore throat.

Tilton entered a plea of not guilty. He is represented by Attorney Chester E. Lewis of Chicago.

SOME PROPERTY DESTRUCTION IN DIXON LAST EVE

Police Give Number Of Celebrants Ride In "Paddy Wagon"

Customary Halloween pranks were played throughout the city last evening climaxing, according to the police, preparations for the past month. Several special police, selected and sworn in by Mayor G. C. Dixon, manned cars which cruised about in the residence districts on both sides of the river up until midnight and several celebrants were given the "thrill" of riding to the police station in the patrol, while others were transported in pleasure cars.

There were about a score confined in the cell block for several hours until the celebration waned, when they were released and ordered to find their way home. There were numerous reports of property destruction which included broken windows, smashed bird baths, the overturning of small outbuildings and the usual Halloween depredations.

Scouts Entertained
A group of about 100 small boys gathered at the city hall early in the evening and marched in a body to the stone quarry east of the city where they were entertained by Boy Scout workers. Several young ladies who expressed a desire to ride in the city's ancient "paddy wagon" were accommodated by the officers and at the police station gave their names and ages and were then permitted to depart after realizing the thrill.

One youth did not regard the Halloween celebration altogether as a joke, but on the contrary was very serious when brought to the station. He was reported to have been running through a north side property when the owner emerged suddenly from a shadow and commanded the youth to halt, which he did without delay when he looked down the muzzle of a gun. His fright prevented him from explaining his presence upon the property and he was held until the officers arrived.

NOT ALL FUN

Los Angeles, Nov. 1. —(AP)—Halloween was not all fun, as a family of four and a 13-year-old boy learned last night.

A jack o'lantern maneuvered by Solomon Ahmleh, 8, caught fire and in turn ignited his costume. His mother, trying to extinguish the blaze, also was burned.

Her husband put the son and mother in his automobile and with another son, rushed to a hospital, sounding the horn frantically.

At an intersection, police were told, Ahmleh gave the horn all the works and challenged a red traffic light with the result that he collided with another automobile, driven by Mrs. Neva Mead.

The Ahmleh family and Mrs. Mead eventually all went to the hospital for treatment of slight injuries.

In another part of the city, Jack Kelly, 13, dressed like a girl, walked into the side of an automobile, police reported, said. Still in costume, he was taken to a police hospital and got along all right until nurses led him into the women's ward and began to undress him.

In the struggle, Kelly emerged the winner and got into the men's ward where he was treated for bruises, some received in the accident and some at the hospital.

Russell Leake, prominent retired farmer and well known throughout Lee county, passed away this afternoon about 1:30 at his home, 521 Peoria avenue. Mr. Leake had been in declining health for some time and several weeks ago entered the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital for treatment. The obituary and funeral announcement will be published later.

CONSIDERATION POSTPONED; TO SEEK WAY OUT

Definite Split Now Seen Between Downstate And Cook Co.

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1. —(AP)—The unemployment relief deadlock continued in the House of Representatives this afternoon when the key bill in the $30,000,000 bond issue series failed to get the necessary two-thirds majority. The unofficial vote was 95 to 49.

A compromise seemed inevitable as a result of today's double defeat of the bond issue and the amended Lantz bills, which were blocked a few hours earlier on a 91 to 48 roll call.

After both roll calls, consideration was postponed before the official results were announced so that the bills can be brought up again at a later session. For the bond issue, it was necessary to surpass the rules because a 75-25 vote is a wider margin than a 60-40 vote.

As a recess was taken, Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, leader of the Republican minority, called a conference of his party members to take immediate action in deciding upon their future course of action.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1. —(AP)—Downstate representatives today failed to muster sufficient strength to pass the Lantz bills, amended to require property taxes in Cook County to pay for relief, and were forced to postpone consideration after an unofficial 91 to 48 vote.

The key bill in the $30,000,000 relief bond series was then called up for passage.

With few exceptions, the Lantz bill vote showed a definite split between Cook county and downstate legislators, with Chicagoans opposing the plan to force extra property taxes for relief.

The roll call required approximately an hour, with eleven more votes needed by Rep. Frank McClure, Abingdon Democrat, who led the fight for the amended bills.

The downstate representatives showed sufficient strength to pass the bills without the emergency clause, but a decision on future action awaited the test of administration strength on the bond issue.

(Representatives Allen and Collins of the 35th District voted for the bills. Rep. John P. Devine was recorded as "absent or not voting.")

The House members would have none of the ex-Lantz bills, demanding rather, that the measures be restored to their original mandatory form. This the House accomplished yesterday afternoon by a vote of 77 to 51.

Led by McClure, the House took the optional measures, as passed by the Senate in its compromise effort, and rewrote them in their original form yesterday before advancing them to third reading for final action which was expected today.

Ruled Pertinent
This action was made possible when Speaker Arthur Roe, Vandellia, ruled the bills were within the call of the special session. An objection to the measures had been raised by Elmer Schnackenberg of Chicago, Republican leader.

As the measures now stand it is mandatory that Chicago levy a property tax to meet its own relief situation; that townships in Cook county outside of Chicago do likewise; and permission is granted downstate counties under commission form of government to levy an additional 15 cent tax for the same purpose.

Attacked Cook Co.
Amendment of the Lantz bills to their original mandatory form was accomplished by a union of downstate Republicans and Democrats. Neither Thomas Sennett, Democratic majority leader, nor Schnackenberg, were able to hold their party members behind the program. Sufficient members of both parties bolted their leadership to do with the Lantz bills as they pleased.

In seeking restoration of the mandatory amendments in the Lantz bills, McClure declared: "The ex-Lantz bills, as passed by the Senate, are a fraud and a nullity and, unamended, are a set-up for another veto. These amendments put the responsibility squarely upon the city of Chicago, give the city of Chicago the power to levy, and they will work."

McClure said Cook county "has failed miserably and deliberately to meet a responsibility fairly and equitably fixed by law, that is met and born by every tiny township in this state, however poor; that is met by civilized people everywhere; a responsibility that is almost inherent in civilization itself."

FINISH OF GRAU REGIME SEEN IN CUBA SITUATION

Carlos Mendieta Is Believed To Hold Control Now

Havana, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Carlos Mendieta, grizzled veteran of many a political conflict was believed today to hold the Cuban political situation in the palm of his hand.

It was reliably reported that the Nationalist leader, whose own home was bombed only a few days ago in the current political and labor disorders, could have the presidency if he wanted it.

As an alternative, Mendieta could dictate the selection of a new government to supplant President Grau.

All political leaders except a few intimates of President Grau agree a crisis is near.

It was understood today that strong pressure had been exerted on Mendieta to accept the presidency and retain the present form of government with a new cabinet, but he had not accepted because he did not desire to eliminate himself from the field of presidential candidates in the elections next spring.

It was also understood that if Mendieta finally declines the Presidency, a government will be organized under the parliamentary plan—with Mendieta.

Most of the 42 members of a legislative committee which will actually rule the nation.

Under such a parliamentary system, President Grau probably would remain in the presidency, it was said, but only as a figurehead.

Having gained some height, pride looks down with complacency on what is beneath it; humility looks up to a higher and yet higher elevation.

Rockwell Kent At Frances Shimer

Rockwell Kent, one of the most vibrant personalities of our modern day, and known to the world at large as artist, author, adventurer and explorer, will appear as lecturer at Frances Shimer Junior College Mt. Carroll on the evening of Friday, Nov. 3, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Kent is both author and illustrator of "Wilderness," "Voyage," and "N by E." As the celebrated illustrator of "Moby Dick," "Candide," "The Canterbury Tales," "Deewulf," "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," "Dreams and Decisions," and "Venus and Adonis," he is universally known.

An investigation of Mr. Kent's background reveals some interesting facts. He was born in Tarrytown Heights, New York in 1882. After studying architecture at Columbia, he studied art under Chase, Henri, Hayes, Miller and Thayer. His pictures hang in the Metropolitan Museum, the Brooklyn Museum, the Chicago Art Institute, and in leading private collections. He has been represented in the Century of Progress exhibition by his well-known painting, "Mount Equinan, Winter," painted in 1921.

Mr. Kent will defend liberty of taste against the dogmatism of the critics. The illustrated lecture to be given at Frances Shimer is entitled "In Defense of True Art."

The public is cordially invited to attend this lecture for which only a small admission charge will be made.

Mmmm! OYSTERS WRAPPED IN BACON!

Little pigs in blankets—a de luxe way to serve oysters.

Make A Zestful Dish Served On Toast

By NEA Service

With oysters so plentiful this season, it's a good idea for the housewife to have a few oyster recipes on hand.

Raw oysters are the easiest to serve. On the half shell, with a cocktail sauce, they certainly start a meal off right.

Simply pry open the shells, discarding the top side, and arrange five or six on each plate with a small dish of cocktail sauce in the center. Chill the oysters and serve on a bed of cracked ice.

The cocktail sauce is also easy to prepare. Add ground horseradish, chopped pickle and a dash of tobacco sauce to thick chili sauce, stir the mixture and leave it in the icebox until you are ready to serve the oyster course. Catsup will do if you don't happen to have chili sauce.

While the oysters are cooking, make some fresh, hot toast. Cut the slices of toast into quarters and place one oyster on each small slice of toast. Garnish with parsley and serve immediately.

If you want to serve some sort of a sauce with the oyster bundles, you might try a regular tartar sauce. It's easy to make. Just add chopped pickle relish and a few drops of lemon juice to mayonnaise. Let each guest help himself to the sauce.

Creamed oysters or oyster stew is a favorite American dish. It may constitute the main course of a luncheon or Sunday night supper or be served as the soup course with a dinner.

Take one pint of oysters, 4 tablespoons of butter, 6 tablespoons of flour, 1 pint of rich milk and some salt and pepper. Heat the oysters in their own liquor until the edges curl. Make a white sauce with the butter, flour and milk and then put the oysters in it. Add the seasoning just before you are ready to serve the stew.

Fried oysters is a popular dish, especially with men. Beat a couple of raw eggs until they are frothy and dip the raw oysters in them. Then roll the oysters in either cracker crumbs or dry hard bread crumbs, put them in hot butter in a frying pan and allow to brown on both sides.

into the cuticle and leave it on all night if you can. Wear oil cotton gloves while you sleep.

If your nails continue to crack and break, it may be that there is something lacking in your diet or something wrong with your digestive tract. The best thing to do, of course is to see a reliable physician.

Keep the cuticle pushed back. This can be done with the very towel on which you dry your hands. Always push it back while your hands are wet and the cuticle is soft.

Don't dig under your nails with a two-sharp nail file. In most instances, an orange stick wrapped in cotton, is better for cleaning purposes.

Enjoy Party at Lone Cedar Lodge

Mr. and Mrs. George Prescott entertained guests for five tables of bridge at their summer home, Lone Cedar Lodge at Grand Detour last evening. It was a masquerade party and everyone had a lot of fun guessing who was who.

At bridge Mrs. J. E. Wirth won high honor favor for the ladies and C. A. Mellett won the same honor for the gentlemen. H. H. Prescott of Preepont won the consolation favor and J. E. Wirth won the 80 honors favor. A Halloween supper was served with decorations most attractive in keeping with the season. Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Trowbridge deserve special mention as to costume. They arrived, pails and all, as Jack and Jill.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Prescott of Preepont were out of town guests.

Break Nail Biting Habit

Smooth, well-shaped nails are the first requisites of beautiful hands.

In the first place, don't bite them. If biting them is a habit, try and break it. Getting an occasional professional manicure will help. Ask the operator to file them smooth, trim off the rough edges of cuticle and put on a polish. Your pride in the polish and the absence of rough edges will go far toward keeping you from chewing on them.

Nails that break and crack easily should be treated to a warm olive oil bath. Massage a bit of the oil

"Advanced Officers" Night for O. E. S. a Delightful Evening

Monday evening Dorothy Chapter O.E.S., once again entertained a host of visitors from all over the northern part of Illinois. It was "Advanced Officers' Night," during which the Worthy Matron, Lucille Stauffer and Worthy Patron, Victor Eichler, acting as hosts step aside and invite the advancing officers to occupy the next higher stations.

Last night's big event was therefore in charge of Lella Bush, as Worthy Matron and Chas. Bush as Worthy Patron. A great deal of preliminary work is necessary to make such an affair the huge success that this one was. Visits to all other Chapters and special invitations to their members and to arrange for some of the visitors to take part in the ceremony, and, of course, arranging for the big turkey dinner which was to serve nearly 250 people.

The big dining room had been beautifully decorated with the orchestra stand made up after McCutcheon's cartoon, "Injun Summer," representing a corn field with some boys around a camp fire and the big harvest moon shining down on the scene. The guests entertained the room with only the candles on the tables for illumination, except for the big moon, and when they were all at their places, the officers and the visiting grand officers and visiting Worthy Matrons and Patrons, marched down an aisle between the tables and found their places at the head tables. The tables were beautifully decorated with the fruit and nuts in pumpkins and the cute little shocks of corn for favors, which later were all carried away by the guests as souvenirs.

The ladies of the Eastern Star have built up an enviable reputation for preparing and serving wonderful meals and with roast turkey to start with, they excelled all previous efforts. The preparation of this meal which taxed the capacity of the big dining room, was in charge of Mrs. E. J. Brown and the serving of it was in charge of Mrs. Harold Espy. These two ladies together with their many helpers received an endless amount of praise for their work. During the dinner, the guests were entertained by what was without doubt the most beautiful music that has ever been heard in this dining room. Every musical number played was roundly applauded. "Shine on Harvest Moon," was played as the guests entered and a number of the subsequent numbers were moon songs. Following this wonderful dinner the guests adjourned to the beautiful Chapter room. The environment of this room with its beautiful appointments and surroundings has a subtle influence on all who enter it and everyone who participates in anything held there is inspired to better and better achievements. The pretty young women in their beautiful evening gowns of bright colors, as they assume their positions, make a picture that is long remembered by all who attend these delightful affairs.

Both the acting Worthy Matron, Mrs. Lella Bush and the guest of honor, Mrs. Nelle Gearhart, each had an escort of eight young ladies and each was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Bush with the large yellow chrysanthemums and Mrs. Gearhart with her favorite red roses.

The escort of Mrs. Nelle Gearhart was composed of past Worthy Matrons. Dorothy Chapter has been highly honored by having one of its past Worthy Matrons elected by the Grand Chapter as Grand Representative of Maryland. This office ranks as second highest in the Grand Chapter. Mrs. Nelle Gearhart who received this acknowledgment of her work in the Chapter. There were many distinguished guests to be introduced including Grand Chapter committee representatives and lecturers and a host of the officers of the Chapters in surrounding cities. There were thirty-eight past Worthy Matrons introduced and many more who wished to avoid this introduction. A special feature was the introduction of the Senior Past Worthy Matron, Mrs. Alice Anderson and the Junior Past Worthy Matron Mrs. Frances Schrock.

Following the introductions, the beautiful initiatory ceremony was conferred in an exceptionally perfect manner which brought much well deserved praise. The popularity of Dorothy Chapter was demonstrated when invitations from at least fifteen other chapters were read, some as far away as Anna, Ill. The guests present came from

(Moline Daily Dispatch)

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.
At all times there must be the sentinels on guard.
We always have self-appointed sentinels, but the public looks to the newspapers of the country to be on guard of their rights and liberties night and day. The public expects the newspapers to sound the alarms when it is sleeping. The public expects the newspapers to awaken them even though they are sleeping under the dope administered by the demagogue.

As long as the public looks to the newspaper to be the sentinel on guard, the public should be tolerant of the newspaper that is performing this service when the job is an unpopular one.

When it comes to government, the people most of the time are to be protected from themselves. To protect the people against themselves is not the safest and most popular job in the world. Yet the people who need the most protection are the ones who resent it the quickest and in the most boisterous manner. They also are the ones who would berate the newspapers quickest and in the most boisterous manner if the newspaper failed to sound the warnings against approaching danger to their liberty.

The most faithful sign now in the skies is the editor who has found his voice and is speaking out. If the editors are not "cracked down on" by bureaucracy, it may prove to have been a good thing for the country that NRA has been slow to take note of the constitutional provision for freedom of speech and the press.

For a time editors throughout the country were speechless, almost. Even President Roosevelt is quoted as having expressed some alarm about the unanimity with which his extraordinary plans were being received. "We can't be right about everything," he is reported to have said apprehensively.

"There was a period during which it was downright indiscreet to find a word of fault with anything that was being done," says Charles P. Stewart, Washington writer for Central Press. "Presently, however, one Washington commentator after another began to pick up courage to point out here and there a flaw in the recovery plan operations. At last the chorus has become loud enough to have convinced the hardboiled among the campaign's leaders, evidently, that steps ought to be taken to silence it, more or less forcibly."

As it has been in Washington, so it has been outside of Washington. Not only has time offered an opportunity to analyze what congress has done, but time has disclosed what the President and his agents are proposing to do under the powers conferred by congress.

The result is that the sentinels have begun to sound warnings. Among these sentinels are the Chicago News, the Chicago Tribune, and the Chicago Journal of Commerce. Not only from the editorial chamber, but from the platform, Frank Knox, Robert A. McCormick, and Phil S. Hanna, editors, are making themselves heard.

"Whatever one may think of the purpose or practical benefits of the present scheme of government control of industry and trade there should be no objection to a straightforward definition of it," said Colonel McCormick, speaking in Los Angeles. "The scheme will be neither better nor worse for this. It is a reestablishment of the medieval English star chamber form of government."

"You have no inviolable property rights. You have no right of contract. You can not be guided by experience. You must ignore the law of supply and demand. You must obey the administrator. Say you fail to do so and you are discovered. The government employees who issued the edict are the judges. The administrator whose edict you have offended is your judge, and the law back of the edict says the verdict is final."

"The verdict may mean your complete ruin. Your right to do business may be taken from you. You are fined and sent to jail. Your family may be destroyed. No inviolable provision of the constitution can do anything to save you. You are as helpless as a man who offended the tudor king and stood before the kings favorites in the star chamber."

"Whatever may be said for the purposes of the recovery act, such are its consequences."

The definition of the present scheme of government is correct so far as we can see. The warning is timely.

One of the embarrassments of being a gentlemen is that you are not permitted to be violent in asserting your rights.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

Nothing is more tragic than the woman who closes the door to her mind on the day of her marriage.—Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, daughter of President Roosevelt.

The Mystic Man jumped to the ground. He smiled a bit and looked around. "Who let me out of that old box?" he very loudly cried.

"I was a prisoner in there, and there was hardly any air. I wish you lads could know how terrible it is inside."

"Thank me," said Duncy. "I'm the one who let you out. Gee, it was fun to push the little button and see you hop into sight."

"The fisherman deserves thanks, too, 'cause he told me just what to do. But, come, tell us about yourself. Right now you're quite all right."

"I'll tell you all about this man," the fisherman exclaimed. "He ran into my hut one day and started messing things around. 'In fact, he was a little pest and finally, I thought it best to lock him up in that small box, where he'd be safe and sound. 'But, now, I'm glad that he is out. He'll entertain you all, no doubt.' 'You bet I will. I know

PILLAR OF SALT
By L. L. R.

A groceryman in a small town in Idaho was not only an important merchant but he was a militant one as well. Owning his own store, he fought bitterly against the chain stores, which were threatening his formerly profitable place of business.

He was a good man, and he was rarely absent from a church service. On the particular Sunday morning of our story, the storekeeper was in his pew. It happened to be Communion Sunday.

With a reverent expression, the merchant watched the elders as they passed along from one pew to the next, bearing the plates with bread.

The plate at last reached the sincere owner of the grocery store. He reached out to take a portion of bread, but then he hesitated. In a coarse whisper, he asked of the elder:

"Is this bread from a chain store?"

plications to the abdomen and the administration of moderate doses of bicarbonate of soda.

Many an important and dangerous infection, such as scarlet fever, pneumonia, meningitis and sometimes, too, acute appendicitis, may set in and give rise to symptoms which closely resemble those of acute gastritis.

Of course, rest in bed, hot applications to the abdomen and bicarbonate of soda will do no harm, even if the condition is not that of an acute gastritis, but if the child does not promptly improve under the treatment administered, a physician should be called in.

Chronic gastric dyspepsia in children may follow an acute attack or may arise spontaneously. Here, again, gastritis, which means an inflammation of the stomach, may be set up by irritating foods.

Another cause may be the swallowing of infected mucus issuing from a chronically diseased upper respiratory tract, the nose and throat.

The symptoms of chronic gastritis are loss of appetite, nausea or occasional vomiting and some abdominal discomfort.

Treatment consists in regulation of the diet, the use of bland foods, the elimination of fried foods and foods excessively rich in fats.

POETS' CORNER

"AMONG THE AUTUMN LEAVES."
(By Edith Andrew Burchell)
(Oregon, Ill. 1933.)

When all the world seems upside down
And all the sky looks gray,
Pack up your grip and take a trip,
Along Black Hawk Trail-Highway,
Where autumn trees are tinned
Bright yellows, reds and browns
Where all the world is happy
As the leaves go dancing round.

Where from a distant pine tree
You hear a plaintive call
As once again a whip-poor-will
Is telling you 'tis Fall.
Yes—'tis Fall again in woodland,
And 'tis Autumn among the leaves
Where God hath left His fairies
Touch
Their paint brush on His trees—

So if you wish a castle,
A castle bright and fair
Just go among the autumn leaves
And build it in the air—
For castles builded in the air
Where people never frown,
Will last for aye and will not break
And walls won't tumble down.

One Dear to me lies sleeping
Beneath an autumn tree,
But I'll not mourn, beloved,
I see you in memory.
For God leans down and whispers
As nigh as that tree I stand,
And tells me Dad is still with me
And guides with lifted hand—
So let's cast away great sorrow!
And drink our cup of joy!
And go among the autumn leaves
Where nothing can annoy—
And when at even-tide I see
The moon and stars above—
I'll know the leaves are telling me
To praise our God, above—

For He hath sent His angels
Among those autumn leaves,
To whisper loving words to you a month and thus far have been devoid of any accomplishments. In fact, reports that will not down have it that the conversations are about to be given up. This situation was foreseen as probably the most important angle of today's White House debt talk, involving a decision whether the debt negotiations are to be continued.

The British negotiators are Leith-Ross, Sir Ronald Lindsay, London's Ambassador here, and T. K. Bewley, economic advisor to the embassy. Undersecretary Acheson, chief American spokesman, was asked to sit in at the White House meeting.

The Chief Executive, while determined to go ahead with his gold plan, seeks to avoid antagonizing the British. To do so would invite reprisals and pit American and English millions against each other in a possibly ruinous battle for control of the exchange rate of the dollar and pound.

Market sensitive
To pay for the gold that is bought abroad, the government must buy pounds and sell dollars on foreign exchange. That market is unusually sensitive at present, due to currency uncertainties, and a large offering of dollars, economists say, would serve to depreciate the dollar in its relation to the pound.

Such a result, it is held, would hardly be acceptable to the British. The London government is already equipped with a huge equalization fund, created to protect the pound, and its millions could quickly be thrown into the contest.

Instead of starting such a currency war, Roosevelt is hopeful that the British, accepting his assurances that the move is dictated by the internal situation and by no means by international animosity, will permit a reasonable degree of dollar depreciation.

At the same time, and as an instrument of attaining the latter, he hopes to increase the price of gold abroad. Simultaneously, the government will be buying the new product of domestic mines at high fixed prices. By thus increasing the price of the metal, Roosevelt hopes to induce a rise in the price of commodities.

How It Works Out
Normally it works in this way: An exporter in New York sells $1,000 worth of goods in London; a London manufacturer sells $1,000 worth of his product to a merchant in New York. The New Yorker pays for the consignment in dollars, the London importer in pounds. To satisfy the two claims the English exporter and the New York importer could send across the Atlantic for the equivalent quantity of gold.

However, this would take time and involve loss of interest, and there would also be a payment to the steamship and insurance companies. So, the exporter in New York sells his claim—a "bill of foreign exchange"—on London to the importer. The same process takes place in London and both claims are satisfied without the actual shipment of specie.

No Personal Deal
The importer and exporter do not actually make a personal transaction of it. Instead the importer sell his bill of exchange to a house which makes a practice of buying and selling these instruments on speculation and by shading prices manage ordinarily to make a narrow margin of profit.

When Great Britain and the United States were both on the gold standard, pounds and dollars were converted into each other at a rate of exchange which never varied more than a cent or two from $4.8665 for one pound.

The reason for this constant rate was that the price of gold was fixed by law in both countries. In England one pound bought 113 grains of the yellow metal. In America $4.8665 bought the same quantity.

Drop Gold Standard
But Great Britain dropped the gold standard, ceased paying gold for pounds on demand. The price of gold in British currency rose. That is, a pound would buy less gold than formerly. But $4.8665 could still command 113 grains of gold in America.

The result was that a pound could no longer command $4.86 in foreign exchange. The figure fell quickly to hardly more than $3.50. A year and a half later, America, too, abandoned the gold standard, and the exchange rate started moving up again fluctuating widely as it did so.

These gyrations proved a handicap to international trade. The New York exporter selling $1,000 worth of merchandise to a London buyer in mid-July on 30-day terms could not know whether he would get $1,000 when the bill came due in August or a sum far less than that.

Roosevelt's advisors believe, too, that the British negotiators are Leith-Ross, Sir Ronald Lindsay, London's Ambassador here, and T. K. Bewley, economic advisor to the embassy. Undersecretary Acheson, chief American spokesman, was asked to sit in at the White House meeting.

First Lady on Visit to Grandson

The roadster-travelling Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt enjoyed a happy family reunion on her way from Washington to New York when she stopped off at Ithaca, Pa., to visit her 11-month-old grandson, William Donner Roosevelt, and his mother, divorced wife of Elliott Roosevelt, the President's second son. The First Lady is pictured being greeted as she stepped from her roadster by Miss Mae Chayney, of New York.

that the fluctuations had a deterring effect upon the rise of domestic commodity prices, which the administration seeks so he has determined to end them.

First, he set an arbitrarily and constantly increasing price for domestic newly mined gold, in the expectation that this would move prices upward and increase the dollar value of the pound.

Accompanying this effort, he now proposes to buy gold abroad, and to do so the government must sell dollars on foreign exchange to pay for it. By buying gold, and selling dollars, he plans to steady the exchange rate, but not to peg it definitely and firmly again.

That is to come later if prices here reach the level he wants.

Roosevelt And His Party To Be Charged With Broken Promises

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The groundwork for an intensive congressional election campaign next year based on criticism of President Roosevelt and NRA is being laid by the Republican National Committee.

The objective of the campaign is capture of the House, now top-heavy with Democrats. The Republicans also hope to seize several of the 32 Senate seats to be filled next year but they have no expectation of obtaining Senate control.

The first major move of the Republican committee to help the party was in the issuance of a pamphlet for use by workers not only in congressional campaigns but in gubernatorial and other elections that come next fall.

Charge Broken Promises
Both the Democratic and Republican leaders agreed that the pamphlet charging President Roosevelt had broken promises and assailing the NRA was the opening blow in the campaign.

Democratic chieftains have prepared somewhat for the campaign. They are likely to contend that NRA was an emergency measure made necessary because Republican administrations had failed to deal properly with the economic situation.

The Republicans realize that through the capture of House seats they have their best chance for opening the way to regaining national political control. At present there are 308 Democrats, 115 Republicans, 5 Farmer-Laborites and seven vacancies in the House. Representative Snell of New York, Republican floor leader, recently said that between 70 and 80 seats now held by Democrats would return to the Republican column next election.

Some Democratic leaders concede they will lose 50 to 60 which they consider normally Republican. In the Senate, 32 seats now held by 17 Republicans and 15 Democrats are to be filled next fall. The Republicans hope to capture some of the Democratic seats in addition to holding their own.

Several relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary Doty last Sunday to help celebrate her seventy-fifth birthday.

MINER'S HOME IN SPRINGFIELD WAS BOMBED

Second Outbreak Of Kind In Capital In Four Days

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The home of Alex Cummings, a member of the United Mine Workers of America, was damaged by a dynamite bomb about 4 A. M. today. No one was injured, although the front porch was torn off and windows were broken in ten other houses and a store.

Cummings is employed at the Woodside mine, No. 53 of the Peabody Coal Company, which has refused to hire coal diggers not affiliated with the mine workers union. Cummings was in his kitchen, getting ready for the day's work, when the bomb was tossed on his porch. Weatherboarding was torn from the front of the house.

It was the second bombing of a local miner's home since Saturday night. As in other cases of union violence, officials had no clues as to who did the bombing.

Damage was estimated at $500. Window glass was thrown on the beds of four children on the second floor. Mrs. Cummings and a baby were asleep downstairs.

National Guard officials reported that three shots were fired into the home of Frank Honigman, another worker at the Woodside mine, during the night.

Two Games In N. Y. City. Although overshadowed by the Fordham St. Mary's duel at the Polo Grounds, Colgate's clash with Tulane at the Yankee Stadium will be watched with plenty of interest by eastern followers of the game. That intersectional test should provide the answer to Colgate's rating this year. Last season, after the Pitt Panthers had been invited to the Rose Bowl, Andy Kerr, Colgate's head coach, pulled a nifty when he described the Red Raiders as "unbeaten, untied, unscored on and unbeaten."

Now, with the 1933 campaign barely half over, the Red Raiders have been scored on by Rutgers and tied by Lafayette, and stand small chance of being invited to Pasadena. They're still unbeaten but Tulane, Syracuse and Brown lie ahead.

Two of the east's undefeated outfits will carry their banners into the midwest with their records dangerously threatened. Holy Cross, with triumphs over Harvard and Brown in its string of five in a row, will be favored by a slight margin over Gus Dorais' Detroit Titans. Carnegie Tech, undefeated but tied by Washington & Jefferson, will quite definitely be the underdog against Purdue.

Forest fires burned over 52 million acres in this country in 1930; the burned area is larger than the states of Indiana and Ohio combined.

Twenty gallons of gasoline can be refined from one barrel of crude oil.

D. H. S. Linesman Not Badly Injured

Will Flanagan, high school student and member of the high school heavyweight football team, sustained a slight injury while in scrimmage practice at the north side athletic field last evening. The side members were going through scrimmage practice when Flanagan, who is a linesman on the heavyweight squad, was struck from behind and for a time was "knocked out." To be certain that no serious injuries had been sustained, Athletic Director A. C. Bowers had the student removed to the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital where a thorough examination and X-ray pictures disclosed the injury being confined to a muscle in his neck which had been badly bruised. The attending physician expected that he would be released from the hospital today.

HERE IS PARADE OF BIG TENNERS IN BLACK-WHITE

An Analysis Of Football Teams As They Line Up For Saturday

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A parade in print of the Big Ten football championship show, and its leading actors to date:

The Team to Beat—Michigan. A team that has vanquished Ohio State, 13 to 0, and Chicago, 28 to 0, in addition to crushing Cornell and Michigan State and piling up a total of 101 points to six by the opposition.

The Mystery Team—Coach Bob Zuppke's fighting Illini from Illinois. The mystery of the Illini who beat Wisconsin 21 to 0 in their only conference game and lost a tough one to Army by six points, will be solved by Michigan Saturday. It's the last mystery of the race.

Coaches with the hardest luck—Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago and E. O. Hayes of Indiana. Shaughnessy replaced the veteran Amos A. Stage at Chicago and hopes soared with a hustling sophomore team. By luck of schedule, Chicago drew two of the toughest teams in the race, Purdue and Michigan.

Biggest surprise team—Iowa. A team that hadn't won a big ten game since 1929 until the opening of this season when it beat Northwestern and Wisconsin and then lost to Minnesota.

Fastest improving team—Minnesota. After tying Indiana and Purdue the Gophers have beaten Pittsburgh and Iowa. George McConville, Associated Press Correspondent at St. Paul, says: "This outfit has everything, including brains. I do not see how any team (and that includes Michigan) is going to beat them. Definitely, the team is as solid as a rock."

Outstanding kicker—Every coach who has watched John Kabealo of Ohio State in action this season gives him the honor. Dick Hanley of Northwestern says he's the best he ever saw. He outpunted two of the conference's greatest kickers—John Regezel of Michigan and Ole Olson of Northwestern. Kabealo averaged 61 yards in 14 tries against Northwestern despite the inclusion of a blocked kick that traveled only eight yards.

Beynon Best Passer. Outstanding passer—Jack Beynon, Illinois. Beynon (pronounced Bay-non) completed 12 out of 17 passes for a total gain of 153 yards against the Army and Coach Bob Zuppke, not a demonstrative man, ran out and threw his arms about his neck and showered him with praises after the battle, although the Illini lost.

Best drop-kicker—Paul Pardon of Purdue. His record as Purdue is 24 successful boots in 26 attempts for point after touchdown.

Leading scorer—Herman Everhardus, Michigan, with 49 points. Leading team scorer in strictly Big Ten games, Michigan, points 41, opponents 0.

Greatest day's performance—Duane Purvis, Purdue. He gained 134 yards from the line of scrimmage against Wisconsin in 20 attempts, and made one of the greatest catches of a pass to score ever witnessed.

AROUND THE BIG TEN. Ohio State has dropped the double wing back formation in favor of a modified punt formation—Coach Sam Willaman thinks the change will add power to Ohio State's attack. All Indiana's crumples are back. Captain Walter of Illinois is back on the second team again. Harry Kipke is giving Michigan a set of new plays in case something new is needed for Illinois. Dick Hanley of Northwestern is still searching for someone to hang on to punts and kick-offs.

One Year Ago Today—Santa Paula's Argentina polo team was selected to represent that country in the 1932 international polo matches in the United States.

Five Years Ago Today—Figures revealed by Yale officials showed that the gate at that school's 1927 football games totaled $1,119,280.

Ten Years Ago Today—Paris, for the second time in the long intercity matches with London, defeated the English team, 3-1 in rugby.

JESS HARPER IS TO REMAIN WITH FIGHTING IRISH

High Purposes Of Athletic Officials Are Being Stressed

Note—This is the third of a series of four stories on the football situation at Notre Dame, based upon personal observations and interviews with the university's leaders. The last, tomorrow, will deal with the probable solution of problems for 1934.

By ALAN GOULD

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 1.—(AP)—High purposes and ideals have their vital place in the football scheme of things at Notre Dame, as elsewhere, but the big payoff is based on the results. Any athletic director or coach who says otherwise is merely speaking for effect and not saying what he thinks.

Nowhere is this more keenly realized now than under the present surface of athletic affairs at Notre Dame. The triumphs of the Fighting Irish over a 20-year period have made the school nationally famous, its football system a byword, its disciples in demand all over the country and made possible the building of a great modern stadium.

"Diplomatic Corps"

This brings into the picture now under scrutiny the "diplomatic corps" of Notre Dame athletics. It was first organized by Jesse Harper, a Kansas cattleman, who coached and took to West Point in 1913 the team that featured the Dorais-to-Rockne forward passing combination and first directed national attention to the university's football product. It is now a far-flung organization.

Harper was instrumental in having Rockne installed as head coach in 1917, despite the misgivings of faculty executives who considered Rock too inexperienced and unstable. Finally, in some exasperation, Harper was asked why he objected to all other candidates for the coaching job and insisted upon Rockne.

"Because I promised him the job," replied Jesse. There was no further debate about it.

Harper Will Remain. The history of Rockne, as coach, organizer, leader and diplomat extraordinary, is too well known to require extended outline. Now Harper is back in the saddle as Athletic Director, on Notre Dame's insistence. He will stay there until he sees the present job through to end and everybody else's satisfaction.

Following Harper's advice, Rockne not only built up the prestige of fine football teams but established the policy of playing the most representative colleges of the country. When Rock died, leaving a lot of connections in the air or, as the boys say, "on the cuff," Harper toured the country. He straightened things out, renewed old contracts and made some new ones.

Relations Stronger. It is fair to say that Notre Dame's relationship from coast to coast, within the last three years, have been strengthened and extended. Harper was instrumental, for example, in avoiding a threatened rupture between Army and Notre Dame, growing out of some roughness in a game won by the Irish at the Yankee Stadium last season; there were a few reverberations but only those on the inside realized at the time how much feeling existed and how close these famous rivals were to going their separate ways.

"We are not disturbed by the trend of events at Notre Dame," the athletic head of one of the biggest rivals of the Irish remarked recently. "We have every confidence in Harper. Our relations with Notre Dame have always been on the highest plane. It is not for us to be concerned with the solution of internal problems there."

Against "Breather"

Notre Dame years ago pioneered against the so-called set-up or breather game, at any stage of its football season.

"Win or lose, Notre Dame would rather stick to its own level than to have every team in its athletic cage," remarked Father John S. O'Hara, acting president of the university. "I recall the occasion when we scheduled Lombard College of Illinois for an early season tune-up. Lombard had one of its best teams, built around a really outstanding player, but was no match for Notre Dame. The score was not only one-sided but the star player had the misfortune to break his collar bone in a line charge. He was out for the rest of the season and Lombard's prospects were unhappily spoiled."

"Notre Dame felt as badly about this incident as Lombard. Then and there was strengthened the conviction that it was better to meet teams of our own general classification. Moreover, the players prefer to do so. Contrary to a generally held opinion, I think there is less strain and more enjoyment for the boys in playing natural rivals throughout the season."

FEDERAL PRICE-FIXING IS PLEA OF FARM GROUP

Governors Of Midwest To Carry Appeals To Washington

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The problems of the mid-west farmer are to be tossed into the lap of President Roosevelt for a solution. This decision was made last night by five Governors from as many midwestern states and the authorized spokesmen for four others, who recommended to the President these steps.

The immediate fixation of minimum price levels for major farm products.

An NRA code for the farmer. Currency inflation, properly safeguarded and controlled.

The quickening of federal refinancing of farm mortgages.

The Governors—Langer of North Dakota, Berry of South Dakota, Herring of Iowa, Olson of Minnesota, and Schmiedeman of Wisconsin—together with representatives of Indiana, Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska, drafted their recommendations after a two day conference with leaders of the nation's chief farm organizations.

Personal Appeal. The five Governors plan to carry their program in person to Roosevelt Thursday. They were to meet in Chicago today, preparatory to the Washington trip.

Commending the President for "his earnest efforts to find an effective and just solution of the farm problem" and for progress "thus far made," the midwestern executives added their belief that "certain immediate action, supplementary to action taken by the national administration is imperative."

This immediate action, the executives asserted, includes:—authorizing federal determination of minimum prices for basic commodities to allow cost of production plus a reasonable profit; regulating marketing to encourage ultimate control by cooperatives and to "eliminate the speculative sale of farm commodities;" determining the amount of products to be sold on the domestic market; and providing for licensing of producers, processors and dealers in farm commodities.

Want Fixed Prices. Pending adoption of the NRA code, the Governors recommended that the government immediately fix prices for basic farm commodities to restore the farm commodity price index to the same level as the all-commodity price index.

Inflation "under proper safeguards and control" and payment of the fourth Liberty loan in new currency "instead of refunding with another interest bearing bond issue" were urged.

To speed farm mortgage refinancing, the Governors suggested that applications for farm loans be accepted without payment of application fee in advance; that re-

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

THE ballroom was completely filled, Barney told Joan. It was the biggest turnout for such an affair that he had ever seen. Barney was giving short, emphatic directions to the property man, telling the electrician just how much time should intervene between the colored lights in order to give the illusion of a mermaid rising from the rainbow mist.

He stepped to Joan's side, drawing the curtain aside a little. "There's your audience, Joan," he said. Everything seemed to be whirling before her eyes, the faces beyond merging into a blur. She clung weakly to the heavy curtain, fighting for control. And then, her gaze steadying, she saw Bob. His face looked thinner, sterner. There was a restlessness in his gray eyes. Joan's heart was beating wildly. She wanted to cry out to him. They were all seated in the box on the left—Bob, his father, and Barbara Courtney.

Cobbler Finds a Weigh to Collect Bill in Gold

If necessity is the mother of invention, Cobbler Mike Byrd, left, ranks as at least a first cousin, Miner Ed Lewis, right, with gold in his poke, went to Grant's Pass, Ore., to have his shoes cobbled. No scale was available, but ingenuity was. Balancing a yardstick on a cobbler's knife, held in place by the pincers, Byrd weighed the gold. A dime on one end weighed a tenth ounce. Dust to balance the "scale" was poured on the other. The bill was $15.50. Byrd estimated the gold at $1.75, giving Lewis 25 cents change. The bank found his guess was less than two cents off.
